

MARCH 2020 CENTRAL COAST TOURISM NEWS AND EVENTS

GETTING OUT AND ABOUT... IT'S IN OUR NATURE.

Little Penguin Viewing

While Little Penguins may be seen in many places along our coastline, we recommend sending visitors and locals to the dedicated viewing areas at Lillico Beach and Burnie to see them. This is to ensure we protect the Little Penguins and their habitat. Viewing is free although a box for donations is provided and all funds received are spent on the conservation area. It is Parks and Wildlife policy that only the guides are to use torches, and these are to be red light only. This is to reduce the disturbance of the Penguins and of other visitors. No flash photography is allowed as this can have serious consequences for the penguins, especially if they are feeding chicks. Volunteer guides from the Friends of Lillico Penguins group are rostered at the Lillico Beach viewing platform every evening during the summer breeding season (late September to early April). They are there to assist visitors and to minimise disturbance to the penguins. The Lillico Beach viewing platform is located at the eastern end of the beach, at the foot of Don Hill. From October to March Friends of Burnie Penguins offer free Penguin interpretation tours. Go to the Burnie Little Penguin Observation Centre about one hour after dusk (located on the western end of West Beach linked to the city via a beach boardwalk).

University of the Third Age

U3A Semester 1 – Enrolments from Thursday 20th February to 7th March 2020 online at <http://tascentralcoast.u3anet.org.au/> or phone 0474 097 636. Membership: $40 for 12 months allowing you to access all courses. Office hours each Wednesday from 1pm to 3pm at Apex House.

Ulverstone Cultural Precinct Update

At the January meeting, the Council approved the construction tender award to Fairbrothers and it is now full steam ahead with the final detailed design underway for this flagship project. The Ulverstone Cultural Precinct will incorporate a multi-faceted community facility that will include a revitalised site for the Ulverstone History Museum and Research Library, a regional art gallery, science centre and planetarium, Visitor Information Centre, café and special purpose workshop spaces suitable for woodcraft and other crafts. It will be a tourist destination offering a range of visitor experiences for local, regional, intrastate, interstate and international visitors.

Additionally, the Ulverstone Cultural Precinct will have an education focus, combining both arts and culture and science and technology. The new public spaces will also provide an engaging community space for people to visit and recreate. You will start to see activity at the site with the demolition of the current building and construction will run through this year with the opening of the new Ulverstone Cultural Precinct in 2021. We look forward to sharing progress with you as we start this exciting year.

Are you registered for the Australian Tourism Data Warehouse (ATDW)?

ATDW is a national tourism database used by travel distributors to source product information for their websites. Tourism Tasmania's Discover Tasmania website automatically lists Tasmanian tourism businesses that are registered with ATDW. Discover Tasmania receives over two million visits a year and provides extensive information on Tasmanian tourism businesses including accommodation, attractions, food and drink, events, tours and hire services. Tourism Tasmania is unable to display business listings that are not active in ATDW, so please ensure your listing is kept up to date. All listings are FREE for Tasmanian tourism businesses. If you need any assistance with ATDW, please email atdw@tourism.tas.gov.au or phone 03 6165 5286.

- Sun 29 Neighbour Day - Neighbour Day is looking to flip the loneliness discussion to get Australians to focus instead on the importance of belonging – to start people thinking about how they can put their energy into creating positive and meaningful social connections with people outside of their normal groups and relationships. These social connections might be one-off moments, or regular and lasting interactions that create one to one relationships or become the starting point for an ongoing group. What do you have planned for Neighbour Day on Sunday 29 March? Good relationships with others can and do change communities. Connecting with others also makes us feel better as it helps prevent loneliness, isolation and depression. www.neighbourday.org
